

TomSust - WORKSHOP ON TOURISM SUSTAINABILITY AND REGIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Bruneck|Brunico, 5th – 6th November 2018
TOMTE - Free University of Bozen-Bolzano (Italy)

Submissions are invited for the first TomSust Workshop on Tourism Sustainability and Regional Development which will take place at the Bruneck-Brunico Campus of the Free University of Bozen-Bolzano from Monday 5th to Tuesday 6th November 2018.

The workshop aims to bring together top scholars working on tourism sustainability and regional development. The workshop will take the form of plenary sessions with discussions on the recent advances in tourism sustainability and regional development through an international perspective and through studies based on different fields and approaches.

Phd candidates are encouraged to submit their work and participate to the dedicated Phd session.

Outstanding papers will be published in an edited book with ISBN number.

The event is intentionally organized in such a way to favour interaction and to promote formal as well as informal open discussions.

While submissions in all fields of Tourism Sustainability and Regional Development are welcome, in particular we invite submissions
